INSTALLATION OF POWER FOLLOWS DEVELOPMENT

Angels Camp, Calif. Nov. 30—With installation of electric power completed and a large supply of mining timbers delivered on the ground, the rehabilitation of the McCormack Mine, a mile and a half east of Jacksonville on the Tuolumne river, and idle since 1917, is underway. Six miners have been put to work by M. Maher, veteran California and Nevada mine operator, who with Victor Lemoge of San Francisco and associates, recently acquired the property under lease and bond from Andrew McCormick of Stockton.

For the immediate future underground work will be confined to retimbering and reconditioning two drift tunnels extended more than 20 years ago. Number 1 or upper, is in 2400 feet and the other, Number 2 or lower, 1850 feet in length. The vertical depth between the two adits is 700 feet and the lower workings gives a vertical depth on the vein of 2060 feet.

Three shoots of ore, measuring in length from 30 to 60 feet and in width from eight to ten feet have been exposed in the past operations. Ore extracted from these shoots and reduced in the 50-ton stamp and rod mill on the property in such operations yielded an average of $31 a ton in gold. The mine has a total past production record of $1,000,000. Manager Maher estimates that the lower tunnel gives virgin stoping 'backs' of 1850 feet on the three ore bodies. In addition to the mill the property has a complete mining equipment and housing accomodations for about 40 working men.

ANOTHER NEW HOUSE FOR NEVADA CITY

Mrs. James Woods, who recently purchased the old Snell property out toward the high school, is erecting a cottage on the back of the lot. It will be rented as soon as completed. She is also having a two car garage built between the present house and the new one.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods are from Alleghany, where he is employed in the Sixteen to One Mine. Mrs. Woods moved here to send the children to high school. They have purchased another property which is on Coyote Street.

MRS. KATE SULLIVAN HAS A BAD FALL

The Nugget correspondent of French Corral, Mrs. Kate Sullivan, was seriously injured last Thanksgiving eve. Hearing the bawling of a calf she went out into the darkness to investigate and accidentally stepped on the rotted boards of an abandoned well and fell through, the boards falling in upon her in such a manner as to hold her securely for over 12 hours. The next morning, the Browning children on their way to the store were attracted to the well by the barking of Mrs. Sullivan's dog and immediately summoned help.

She was brought to the Nevada City Sanitarium in the Holmes ambulance. Dr. A. H. Tickell found she had a broken shoulder, several severe cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Sullivan has stood the shock of the terrible experience remarkably well. She is making a good recovery from it and her many friends hope for her a quick return to her usual good health.

Her cheery message given so willingly to the whole world each week through the colums of The Nugget will be missed.

Thursday was Mrs. Sullivan's birthday and a number of friends called at the Sanitarium with ice cream and cookies and spent a very pleasant afternoon with her.

PROFESSOR DAVIES IS CALLED TO LAST REST

Professor John R. Davies passed away Wednesday forenoon at the ripe old age of 84. He was the last of his family to go, leaving to survive him only two granddaughters and two grandsons. One by one he laid his dear ones away in the cemetery at North San Juan and courageously went on.

John Davies was born in England but came to California as a young man and settled in North San Juan when that was a thriving settlement. He taught music here, too, and met and wooed the future Mrs. Davies who became the mother of his two daughters and one son.

He was greatly loved by all the residents of the Ridge as well as many of Nevada City residents as he journeyed here every week until recently giving lessons.

He was most generous in lending his talent at all times and for many years led the choirs at the St. Canice and Trinity churches.

He will be laid away in the San Juan cemetery besides his wife. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 A. M. at the little church in San Juan where he presided for so many years at the organ. Special music has been arranged by some of his former pupils. Holmes Funeral Home has charge of arrangements.

CHRISTMAS CLUB PAYS IN LARGE PERCENTAGE

Horace Curnow, manager of the Bank of America, stated that Nevada City Christmas club members will receive over $5,000 which they have deposited in the local bank during the past 50 weeks.

It is thouhgt that a large percentage of this sum will be used in the purchase of gifts at Christmas time here in Nevada City. There are 78,000 members of the Bank of America Christmas club in 415 branches of the Bank of America.

BIGELOW MINE WILL SOON START OPERATIONS

The Biglow mine which was recently taken over by Mr. Dutton of Los Angeles is ready to begin operations soon as the new owner arrives from the southern City. He was delayed in coming up last week but is expected to arrive within the next few days.

The Bigelow Mine adjoins the famous Sierra Buttes Mine which is classed as one of the largest and most consistent producers of the precious metal in California. It was discovered in the early fifties and is credited with having paid $16,000,000 in dividends to stockholders.

The Morrison tunnel, one of the several developments of the Ariel vein of the Sierra Buttes and Bigelow Mines, is credited with a production of over $30,000 from a 45 foot tunnel. This tunnel is above the present workings and is part of the Bigelow holdings which consist of over 75 acres with mill site.

The mill is located immediateiy adjoining the townsite of Sierra City and near the state highway.

The Monumental Mine produced the second largest nugget ever found in the state of California. It was valued at $66,000. This nugget was found at a cornerstone on the Monumental Mine property that adjoins the Biglow.

The late W. H. Martin purchased the Bigelow Mine just after the San Francisco earthquake. His widow, Mrs. W. H. Martin of Nevada City, has bonded the property to Mr. Dutton.

MINE ACCIDENT IS FATAL TO C. NORRIS

The excellent accident record made by the Idaho-Maryland mine was broken Wednesday when Cecil Norris of Grass Valley met his death in a shaft accident.

The accident, as described by George Beck, who was working with Norris is as follows:

Cecil Norris was engaged in sending rock down an ore chute in a stope on the 1500 level, standing for that purpose upon a platform. Falling with the ore was a large rock weighing several hundred pounds. This presumably struck one of the supports of the platform, crashing the structure and hurling the man down the 100-foot chute, probably head-foremost. The chute filled rapidly, burying the unfortunate workman.

Mr. Norris has been with the Idaho-Maryland ever since the present company has been operating and was regarded as one of their best and most faithful workmen. He was held in high regard by all who knew him.

He was born in Lovelock, Butte county, 40 years ago. He is survived by a wife and son, who is a senior in the Grass Valley high school.

Mrs. Kate Broyles and her daughter drove up from Sacramento Wednesday to attend the funeral of Henry Barrons at French Corral. They also called at the sanitarium of see their old friend, Mrs. Kate Sullivan.

JUDGE RAGLAN TUTTLE TO CLOSE OLD ESTATES

Judge Raglan Tuttle of the Nevada County Superior Court has made an order directing all administrators of estates and executors of wills, appointed since January 1, 1926 to appear in court Friday, December 18, and show cause why their letters should not be revoked.

There are a number of estates in which no steps have been taken to close them. The order is made to compel executors and administrators or their attorneys to take steps to that end.

SEND GREETINGS TO NEVADA CITY PEOPLE

To the Citizens of Nevada City:
Greetings!

With mutual understanding and appreciation that have been traditional since the earliest days of Gold in California, Nevada City and San Francisco today look forward confidently to the realization of a greater and more glorious California in the new period that is dawning.

All the world is coming to realize that there is more Gold in California than the Forty-Niners ever found. Part of it is in the diversified resources of the state, part in the traditions and spirit of our people and in the life we live.

California is a favored region of the earth, and in that favor Nevada City and her adjacent territory are unexcelled. They constitute a shrine of California history and tradition, and are rich in resources that make for material well-being.

Nothing great can be accomplished without vision and enthusiasm. These are notably present among the people of Nevada City. You have caught the new vision of your possibilities, and your determination to make the most of them is evidenced by your enthusiasm.

Californians Inc., engaged in telling the people of the nation what northern and central California have to offer, is inspired by the awakened spirit of Nevada City. Our hats are off to you. You have our best wishes for the success of all the good things that you undertake. We salute you, Citizens of Nevada City!

Sincerely,
John Cuddy, Managing Director of Californians Incorporated.

DRY WASHING PROVING SUCCESSFUL ON DESERT

Randsburg, Cal. Nov. 30—"Does dry washing pay?" can be readily answered by a visit to any spot where an experienced worker is handling the dirt.

Two camps a short distance from the Atolia tungsten mine, shaft No. 1, would be worth while for many of the immediate gold seekers to visit. A visit of a few hours would be of more practical exeprience than all their traveling, looking for nuggets; besides it would give them an idea of what real work was, and a touch of the rough, tough life f a real gold-finder and saver, of the Mohave desert.

Two sets are now making clean-ups of old tailings (dirt that has been run through by workers years ago when tungtsen was much in demand) are "makin' better than beans."

One pair has a small, very small dry washer operated without a crank and the only thing that had to be purchased was a small bellows.

The second camp has a better and larger gold saver with a laundry machine motor; besides so much less manual labor in feeding.

From the absence of placer tungsten and heavy gold thus far found, the former workers knew their ground, must have had better made machines than are found on the desert. The little machine owners stated that they were recovering two dollars and fifty cents a day. "It's all right," said one of the pair— "we are eating."

The old "grizzley" incharge of the works of the larger gold saver stated that the tailings run at 55 cents to the ton. His machine handles one ton an hour and they average $4.50 a day. In his story of one of the well equipped outfits that find their way over to Atolia, making a stopover for a short visit, the principal queried as to where he could find richer ground. The old timer replied that if there were better diggings that he knew of, he would be there right now.

SENATOR TO HELP IN REGARD NAT. FOREST MINING

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—Elsie P. Willoughby, Editor Nevada City Nugget, Nevada City, California.

Dear Editor:

I have noticed in two of your recent publications, which I read from time to time, the same being sent to me by my mining associate of 25 years' standing, Mr. C. D. Wickes, who is now in charge of the Salmon mine, certain articles relative to the National Forest Reserve threatening to keep out mines and mining.

Some time ago I took this matter up with Senator Samuel Shortridge, before he left for the East, for the present session of Congress, and the Senator advised he would use every effort at his command to stop any legislation that might tend in any way to interfere with gold mining and gold operations in California.

Having known Senator Shortridge for some 27 years and being familiar with his attitude toward California and her basic industry and most historical industry, and knowing the loyalty of Senator Shortridge to the men who spend their lives seeking, developing and operating gold mines in our Mother Lode district and to the North, I feel confident in stating that I do not believe that these people who are attempting to close the Forest Reserve to legitimate mining will have any success.

I am sure that with the unalloyed support of Senator Shortridge, and Congressman Englebright and the other Congressmen from the Mother Lode district, that no change will be made in the rules, regulations and laws that will create any more hardships for those of us who have for years spent our time and money in prospecting, mining and developing property.

But, of course, the Nugget and the Journal cannot do too much to offset this move that is being made by those who would close our National Forests to this enterprise.

Keep up the good work.

Yours very truly,
CLARENCE B. COLIN.

JOHN MCLEOD FALLS ON ICY PAVEMENT

John McLeod, veteran retired ditch tender, slipped on the icy pavement on Boulder Street in front of the Wm. B. Celio home last Saturday and was serevely injured. He was rushed to the Nevada City Sanitarium where Dr. A. H. Tickell found he had fractured his left hip and received a cut over one eye.

The fractured bone was set Sunday and Mr. McLeod is making as good progress toward recovery as can be expected.

MAGRUDER MINE AT SAWMILL FLAT TO START WORK

SONORA, CALIF., Dec. 2.—Under lease and bond from the Louis Page estate of Columbia, C. W. Jackman, Los Angeles mining engineer, in association with Frank Shoffstall and L. M. Loud, also of that city, has resumed the development of the Magruder mine at Sawmill Flat, idle for several yaers. The crew of miners employed is at present cleaning out and repairing an old 180-foot drift tunnel connecting with a caved-in 90-foot vertical shaft, which, according to reports, was sunk by early Spanish operators. The face of the tunnel, it is stated, has a three-foot face of ore which yielded $25 a ton in gold on the plates of a small mill operated on the property a few years ago.

In drifting north on the 215-foot level of the 240-fot incline shaft on the Hendricksen mine at Shaw's Flat, miners employed by John D. Garaventa and Odillo Restano of Sonora have exposed a four-inch streak of ore assaying $400 a ton in gold. The find is considered a forerunner of the disclosure of the downward extension of a shoot of high-grade picture rock which on and above the 165-foot level ot hte surface proved 18 inches wide and 12 feet long and yielded $80,000 more than 20 years ago, it is asserted. The new drift on the 215-foot level has been advanced 25 feet. It is calculated by Mr. Garaventa, who is supervising operations, that only about 15 feet of additional drifting will be required to reach the objective point.

Clinton I. Brewer, 85-year-old prospector of Yankee Hill, recently found and located an unstaked fractional claim of three acres adjoining on the southwest the grounds of the historic St. Ann's Catholic church in the heart of Columbia, nugget gold producer extraordinary in the early days of California which lost to Sacramento by a narrow margin in the legislature selection as the state capital in that stirring period. The small tract, situated in an area held under location or patent since the days of '49, is regarded as practically virgin ground, having been only superficially worked by pioneer white and Chinese miners due to the encountering of water at shallow depth with which they could not cope at that time. Contrary to general belief, records show that the ground now claimed by Brewer had actually been open to location for a half century. He discovered its true status and, after staking and recording its location, has started sinking a shaft to bedrock in search of placer and "pocket" gold. Notwithstanding his advanced years, the octogenarian is highly enthusiastic over his "find" and is confident that he will develop it into a paying mine.

STAY HOME, "JIMMY"

It seems to us that New York's "Play Boy" Mayor has overstepped his bounds to a considerable extent in coming to California and trying to interfere with California justice. To me it is a direct slam on the intelligence and integrity of the Supreme Court of California, as well as the present and former governors. For Jimmie Walker it was certainly a grand stand play, but, like most plays of that sort, it failed to add to his popularity, having exactly the opposite effect in most cases. One reporter in describing the New York's Mayor perfection in dress and eloquence of delivery was reminded of a saying "diamonds is vulgar."

UNEMPLOYED

In another column will be found a letter from one of our readers relating ot the highway camps established by the state to aid in the unemployment problem. Everyone has a right to their own opinion but we surely differ with our reader. The United States is facing a crisis never before equaled in our history. Drastic methods must be taken, and the ultimate results must be carefully weighed. Charity is degrading and is avoided whenever possible. In working for their board and lodging these men are able to keep their self-respect. They are not slaves in any sense. They are not forced to work but are in most cases glad to do so. The City of San Francisco recruited 400 men who were glad to work for their board and lodging.

TAXES! TAXES! TAXES!

Those who have not paid for their taxes are frantically gathering the money to do so before they become delinquent on Monday.

Taxes are one of the evil (?) necessities of an efficient government but it is hard to remind oneself of the fact when tax time rolls around.

PLENTY OF SNOW—PLENTY OF WATER

All indications are for a heavy fall of snow this winter which has begun early. While we all complain of the bitter cold we rejoice that it insures plenty of water for next summer.

FROM OUR READERS

North Bloomfield, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Willoughby:—

Regarding the establishment of these labor camps within our State savors too much of slavery and the thing is unconstitutional. The Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States states:

"Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction."

Is it a crime to be broke and without a job? These labor camps say work or no feed or lodging. If that isn't involuntary servitude what do you call it?

Furthermore there is no law of the land that states that any organization of the government or state can be so jockeyed that men within that organization receiving a bountiful wage or salary from the federal government can be relieved of their duties and men substituted without pay to perform these labors.

We have in our Forest departments both State and Federal, the most expensive institutions of our various forms or branches of government and likewise one of the most inefficient. It is safe to say that within the next 6 months the Federal Forest Service and the State Department of Forestry will distribute in salaries alone monthly—and the salaries will be voluntary gifts at that— in the neighborhood of $50,000.00. This will go to Forest Supervisors, Assistant Supervisors, Junior Foresters, Inspectors, Rangers, Telephone Operators, Assistant Inspectors, Assistant to the Assistants, etc., etc., and with the distribution of these nice, easy, fat salaries will go about 75c worth of work to the actual cleaning up of our forests for next summer fires.

Yet they are asking these unfortunates without a nice fat pay check monthly, to go out and do the work of these people. Why not ask the carriers of Uncle Sam's mail to sit by and let these men do the work for lodging and board. Why not ask the Highway Patrol of the State to turn over their motorcycles and they sit by while the "volunteers" do the job for lodging and board. Or take any other branches of Federal or State work and let the ones drawing the nice fat salaries sit by and have the "volunteers" do the work for lodging and board.

As newspaper men it seems to me that the patriotic thing to be done is take issue with this unamerican method of doing business which savors too much of Feudal times, ask for this $50,000.00 that is distributed monthly to Forest employees who do nothing these winter months to earn even a portion of their salaries and divide it amongst these men in need and do a good job of it and clean out the Forests so that we will not be frightened to drop a match for fear of spontaneous combustion within our forests. Remember that the convicts employed on our State highways receive a wage for their work.

Yours truly,
W. W. Kallenberger.

BANK OF AMERICA REPORT GOOD CONDITIONS

Orange picking in the Lincoln District is under way and while the acreage is not large it extends the income season for the grower up to the holidays, comments The Business Review, compiled by the Bank of America.

There have been some additions to citrus orchards, and the industry shows a tendency to expand.

While the 1931 fruit season has been closed, numerous express shipments of persimmons are being made

"An important factor for local material and labor which has held up well in comparison with 1930, has been the building of summer recreational cabins in the lower foothills. Highway and road construction have exceeded the 1930 total, and every important county road has been given an oil treatment.

"The Auburn Chemical Lime Company is a new enterprise with a small but modern plant located near the American River. Its present output, which has been increasing steadily is all taken by near-by mines, building con tractars, and farmers. When placed on the red soils of this district, lime has the quality of maknig available plant foods, promotes necessary bacteria growth, and loosens heavy soils."

That California farmers have progressed far towards stabilizing their industry, is indicated by the bank publication.

siness Review comments.

There are many indications that the general price trend will show a slight advance, and with any general upturn in business conditions growers can expect better prices and an attendant stabilizing in agriculture.

With less than 3% of the petroleum operators of California declining to participate in the pro-ration program, the curtailment operation has been considered entirely as a success and confidence of the industry appears assured.

"Oil production of the State is now held at 45% of capacity," the Bank Review continues, "with Kettleman Hills, the world's greatest oil field remaining in a relatively undeveloped state as a result of an agreement between operators in that field. It appears that the 45% basis of production is proving effective in stabilizing the industry and the largest marketers are expected to post higher crude prices in the near future."

Although the California Valencia orange season is practically over, and navel shipments are well under way in Central California, shipments from major navel producing sections are earlier this year than usual. The 1931-32 crop is reported to be of excellent quality and somewhat better than the general navel pickings. Early information indicates the crop to be about normal in size.

The Bank of America Business Review anticipates that even under present difficulties the entire walnut crop will be marketed before the new crop arrives.

The 1931 Turkey crop is larger than that of 1930, but as yet it is a matter of conjecture as to how much will be available for the Thanksgiving market. Increases in numbers were more pronounced in the North San Joaquin Valley and some mountain and Coast range Counties.

Facts About the Telephone

Bell Telephone security holders exceed the population of Pittsburgh, or San Francisco, Buffalo, Milwaukee, or Washington.

Direct telephone service has been inaugurated between Prague and London. Previously, calls to England were relayed through Berlin.

The first experimental dial telephone exchange installed in the United Kingdom was opened for service at Epsom, Surrey, on May 18, 1912.

The first dial telephone central office in New York City was placed in service on October 15, 1922. It was the Pennsylvania exchange. Now there are 64 dial central offices in New York City.

FIFTH HEALTH LECTURE DELIVERED BY CRONWELL

Article four of a series of health articles written every week by Dr. B. G. Cronwell, Chiropractor and food Scientists.

I wonder how many of my readers ever stop to think and figure out just why the women live ten to thirty years longer than the men. Now you may say, do they? Well for the next few days just look around and see how many you can find who have their mother living and apparently in good health and the father has passed away several years ago. Which one do you think has worked the hardest during their life? Some think it is because the man worked him self to death, and was subjected to all kinds of weather and exposure trying to keep bread on their table. Fresh air and ordinary work never hurt anyone. The woman who has raised three to ten children never had a very easy task, it is the ones who raised the most children who seem to enjoy their health in their seventies and eighties. In speaking of the retiring age, when the family is raised, the home paid for and a snug little bank account for the remainder of life, who does the retiring the man or the woman? Give that a little thought and I think you will have the solution to our problem. Does the woman quit her cooking, sweeping, making beds, scrubbing floors, washing, mending, and many other household duties. No, I think she works harder. The man when he decides to retire and quit going to the job every morning for ten hours a day sits around and takes little slow walks and is so nervous and lost without his regular work, that if he is a smoker he will smoke ten times more and now that he is not working does he consider that he only needs a very little light food about twice a day, no now he wants to eat all the time, anything to pass away the time, between half past eleven and twelve o'clock he looks at his watch fifteen times to see when dinner is ready and if it is five minutes late he almost has a spasm. If he had only been taught to reason out the facts, that now he is not working, not making the demand on his body tissues and therefore did not need very much food to replenish the energy he used to walk around a little, to get to and from the table and his bed.

Statistics show that house work is the most healthful occupation of all. Why. Because each kind of work only lasts a few minutes. Household duties cover a wide variety of little jobs each one bringing into use another set of muscles, consequently during the day every muscle in the body is put to use just enough to keep it properly developed. The woman who has a family of four to care for and does all of her own work, does not have to jump out of bed every morning and waste fifteen to thirty minutes making false motions, known as the daily dozen. Time is our most valuable asset and walking, stooping, reaching and twisting which we do during the day to find and satisfy the wants of our own body is all the exercise that is necessary for the person who eats right. Men with sedentary positions force themselves to do a lot of physical culture exercise, so they may sit down to the table and eat three times a day as much as the man will who is working on a hay bailer. These same men are supposed to be doing brain work and anyone should know that the brain and the stomach can not work to-gether. Children to get the most out of the afternoon schol period, should have some kind of fresh fruit for their luncheon. The large or main meal should be in the evening after the days work is done. Let the organs work digesting the food while the body rests during the night. It is true there will be no rest if the evening meal is not right. If you sit down to the table and put a conglomeration of things with very little valuation as food into your stomach and the mixture turns out to be a batch of home brew, fermenting, forming gas pockets and sharp shooting pains loading the system with toxins, you will wake up in the morning feeling more tired than you were before retiring. I know of men who rent a garage for their machine two miles from their home that they will be forced to walk two miles every morning after breakfast to get their car and the same when they put their car away for the night, claiming they get a good lung full of fresh air before going to bed. It may be a good plan to exchange garages with some friend who lives on the other side of town from you and save the expense of renting another garage.

Question:—Do you believe it is bad to use aluminum cooking utensils? Mrs. H.

Mrs. H.—Yes there has been some very scientific tests made of late and the findings were that the aluminum and copper give off poisons and are causing a great deal of the present time uncalled for sickness. I believe it would be just as well to use enamel ware and the old fashioned iron kettles. Do not over look your aluminum coffee pot and tea kettle.

Question:—What is the cause of Malaria and how can it be avoided? Mrs. F.

Mrs. F.— In high altitudes we find little if no cases of Malaria. Certain low swampy places have a great deal of Malaria in the hot part of the summer. All those who continue to live on rich heavy foods, staches and dairy products during the warm weather and live in the low lands will be affected. There is not Malaria enough in the whole world and brought to one place to affect any person who has made the proper study of diet and lives half way right.

Question:—Can you tell me the name of a good book on diet and where I can buy it? Mrs. N.

Mrs. N.—I am very sorry to say that I do not know of a book of diet that I would want to recommend to anyone. There are a great many books on the market to day and each of them have a few good pointers and the balance of the book will do you more harm than good. Most of these books are written by Doctors who seem to have little or no understanding of the natural normal function of living tissue. The right kind of a book in this present day would be well worth one hundred dollars to any family and would save them that much every year in Doctor and dental bills and do away with painful child birth.

Question—I am in my sixties and my blood pressure is 160, is that too much for my age? Mrs. C.

Mrs. C.—Age does not have anything to do with what your normal blood pressure should be. 120 systolic 80 diastolic and 40 pulse pressure is normal for everyone. You can not obtain true blood pressure from a doctor who does not know how to open the pylodic and Ileocecum valves of the alimentary tract before taking the pressure. I have taken the blood pressure of many patients and then open these valves and take the pressure again to find a difference of six to eighty points. I have never known of anything to comepare with spinal adjustments to regulate the blood pressure.

Question —Do you think one should have their teeth cleaned once or twice a year to keep them free from tartar? Mrs. L.

Mrs. L.—I do think that the teeth should be kept nice and clean and I do not know as it is just the best thing to have it scraped and ground off. That may not be any too good for the enamel. A good brush and a half a teaspoon of baking soda used twice a day will remove all the crust and film in a couple weeks and then the continued use of baking soda to wash you teeth instead of tooth paste will keep your teeth in excellent condition.

Do not hesitate to send in your questions. Be sure they reach me not later than Tuesday evening. Address me care of The Nugget or box 165 Nevada City, Calif.

TOURIST ENTER STATE IN GREAT NUMBERS

An average of 2.29 California-bound automobile tourists swarmed across the state borders every minute during the last six months.

And, an army of nearly 100,000 tourists entered California every month, establishing a new record of 591,207 tourists arriving in California during the 180 days summer season.

This is an increase of 67,384 tourists over the horde of tourists that "checked in" at the border quarantine stations in the same period last year, a net gain of 11,-230 persons each month, despite the so-called economic depression, accord ing to a report filed today with Dudley Moulton, director of the depart- Fleury, chief of the division of quarantine administration.

Representing virtually every state in the union, these tourists swarmed into California at the rate of 98,-536 persons monthly, 3,284 every day, 137 persons per hour and 2,29 persons each minute.

ceeded the 1930 mark for each month, and was a factor in keeping California economic record as one of the best in the nation, it was stated. The report covers only auto tourists and does not include the hundreds of persons arriving in California every month by train or plane.
